

2007-8 Graduate Seminars in Narrative, Discourse and Representation

The Centre for Narrative Research, UEL
and
The Gender Institute, London School of Economics

All seminars take place on Tuesday evenings, 5.00-6.30, at the London School of Economics. Rooms to be announced through the CNR elist and GI website

All welcome, especially graduate students. For further details contact Corinne Squire (c.squire@uel.ac.uk) or Hazel Johnstone (h.johnstone@lse.ac.uk). Details are also on the CNR website: <http://www.uel.ac.uk/cnr/home.htm>, and the Gender Institute website: <http://www.lse.ac.uk/depts/gender/narrative.htm>

October 9th Marvelle Brown, Thames Valley University Researching the narratives of diagnosis and treatment of ethnic minority cancer patients

November 6th Morten Skovdal, London School of Economics Kenyan schoolchildren's photography and writing about it: an analysis

December 4th Colleen McNeil-Walsh, Birmingham University Life stories of South African nurses in the UK

February 12th Linda Sandino, University of East London Identity Visual and/or audio narratives?

March 4th Galit Ferguson University of East London. Socially active or actively social? Web-audiencing of lifestyle television

April 8th Branwyn Poleykett, London School of Economics Representing others, representing ourselves: Feminist theory and sex workers in the South

May 6th Maria Papadima University of East London The shift from non-trauma to trauma-based psychotherapy discourse: the place of the mother

June 3rd Olivia Sagan, University of the Arts, The Loneliness of Learning and the Learning of Loneliness: Biographic narrative interviews with mentally ill adult learners