

Open Learning Initiative (OLive)

University of East London is offering a 10-week course for refugees and asylum seekers in the UK. The aim of the course is to introduce refugees and asylum seekers to Higher Education. The course offers an opportunity for students to find out what skills and knowledge are needed in order to apply for and succeed in HE in the UK and provides information about pathways and opportunities. The course offers modules and workshops in English language and academic writing, research skills, academic tutoring and introduction to academic discussions.

The course runs on Saturdays 9.30-5pm on the University Square Stratford campus of UEL

Course dates 7th October – 9 December 2017

We are looking for UEL students to volunteer and to assist in the running of the OLive course in various capacities:

- Teaching assistants/English teachers
- Volunteers for registrations, lunch and student support
- Child care assistants
- Research, reporting and social media experts
- Advocacy for and with OLive students
- Making links to relevant organisations
- Setting up exhibitions, presenting the OLive course outside of UEL

If you are interested in getting involved, please contact either Aura Lounasmaa a.lounasmaa@uel.ac.uk or Paul Dudman p.v.dudman@uel.ac.uk
